

Farm Ambassador: Chestnut Farms, a local livestock farm with a store at the Boston Public Market seeks a reliable, outgoing and engaging person to serve, inform and connect with the community at the Boston Public Market. We seek to educate the public about the local farming community and the processes for humanely raising livestock in the northeast. A passion for farms, local food systems and healthy food is essential.

Responsibilities include:

- Positively connect and interact with visitors to the Boston Public Market and Chestnut Farms customers
- Answer questions about how livestock is raised, what it takes to operate a farm and how the animals are harvested
- Offer local humanely raised meat products for sale
- Use computer-based point-of-sale and inventory system
- Ability to follow all opening and end-of-day protocols

Interested candidates should respond with a letter of interest and resume to theresa@chestnutfarm.org. We look forward to hearing from you!
